U.S. O. Drive to Open With Show On September 30

The U.S.O. Fund Drive in Ulster county will open with a ditorium, when it is planned to bring a regular "name" U.S.O. Troupe to the city, it was announced today by County Chairman John Ray Mayone.

Mr. Mayone and his co-chairmen, Thomas Bohan, Louis Steketee and Charles Hummer, met with Mrs. Hannon, the state representative of the U.S.O., at the Governor Clinton Hotel on Tuesday evening, when plans for making the drive a success in the city and county were discussed. It was decided to appoint the commanders of each American Legion Post in Ulster county as chairman of their respective localities, with each being given a quota according to the size of their locality. Kingston has a stipulated quota of $6,000.

Chairman Mayone said it was hoped that the local committee would be able to bring some famous personage to Kingston as guest of honor at the show be given in the auditorium. He said that the committee was attempting to have Governor Dewey attend, and as he is honorary chairman of the State U.S.O., it was believed he would come if he has no previous commitments. The U.S.O. organization for the city and county at present is: County chairman, John Ray Mayone: honorary chairman, County Judge John Cashin; cochairman, Thomas Bohan, Louis B. Steketee, Louis R. Netter, Howard Pangborn, Charles H. Hummer, Bert Tandy, Mrs. Stanley Matthews.

Mrs. Milton Wagenfohr will serve as secretary of the organization, with Secretary Bert Tandy of the Y.M.C.A. as campaign manager, while the campaign offices will be located at the Y.M.C.A.

DIAMOND MARKET

Diamond miners can't keep up with the market. Last year world sales reached the record value of 104 million dollars, but many of the diamonds sold within the period had been accumulated during the war years. This year sales are expected to amount to about 80 million dollars, limited only by the quantity of diamonds that can be produced.

About one quarter of these diamonds are wanted for industrial use-for lathe tools, abrasive wheels, stone cutters, dies for drawing wire, and dozens of other factory processes which require the hardness and durability found only in diamonds.

Most of the diamonds in the current market come from the Belgian Congo and South Africa. The stones are found also in Brazil, British Guiana and Venezuela, but not in substantial quantities.

Diamonds have long been considered one of the few things, like gold, which have permanent value. Because of their beauty, gem diamonds will probably always be in demand. The steady increase in industrial uses for diamonds is another factor in the future stability of the stones' value.

When inventors can't think up some new complexity, they can always elaborate on something old. For example, a new portable sundial, watch size, is combined with compass and direction finder. It has a luminous jeweied needle and an unbreakable crystal. But they forgot to make it tick.

PRISON LIBRARY

Readers in many circumstances find in books an escape from their daily life, and penitentiary prisoners are among them. At Sing Sing prison, in Ossining, N. Y., threefourths of the inmates have library cards and Sing Sing's library is beautiful, says J. Alvin Kugelmass, in a recent article. The sun shines through wide windows on all four sides-windows without bars, because of the building's location in the center of the penitentiary grounds. The smell of the Hudson River mingles with the typical library smell of books, old and new.

The librarians are inmates, usually chosen from long-termers by the supervisor of education in the prison. They have charge of a strange collection of gift books which includes the annual reports of the Fox and Hound Club of Virginia, but no dictionary. There is, however, a well-worn Britannica, which is often called upon to settle disputes. Prisoners who are given books during their incarceration are required to leave them to the library when their term is up.

Many of the men read with the idea of a new occupation when they are free, but more depend upon mystery stories, historical noveis, and autobiographies to take them ever the wall and far away.

HOUSING GAIN

Buildings are going to be torn down at 11 surplus army and navy installations and the materials will be used for veterans' housing and hospitals. The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has just been allotted three million dollars to salvage roofing, fiber siding, wood framing, electrical wiring and fixtures, and plumbing. Crews have already started to tear apart barracks at Camp Howze, Colleges and congested cities will get first chance at the materials. The Veterans' Administration is next in line, for hospital construction. If anything is left, it will be offered to private priority holders for use in permanent homes for veterans.

This sounds like real action. If there were more of this taking the bull by the horns and using the materials available, and less wringing of hands, the housing problem wouldn't be quite such a big problem.

POLITICAL DOCTRINE

It is now 16 years since the Republican party has won a Congressional election. The senior party since the Civil war, it fell in 1932 to second place and has remained there nationally, although it has been able to win many state elections.

Numerous explanations have been offered from that of the Dunn Survey, which has consistently maintained that the New Deal purchased elections through the distribution of government aid and payrolls, to the equally cynical position that the extreme Leftists and Communists are able to manipulate the suffrages of the American perpen-Neither cynicism nor defeatism offers an ade-Neither cynicism nor defeatism offers an adequate explanation for the consistent repudiation of the Republican party by the voter. Nor is the charming personality of Mr. Roosevelt a sufficient justification for failure. It is clear that in 1940 and 1944 many who voted Republican for state candidates iid not vote for the Republican candidate for President. Yet, it is equally correct to assume that the split in the ticket was made over principle at the split in the split. principle rather than personality.

In the American political system, it is often assumed that voters vote against, not for. There is little evidence in political history that this is so. Lincoln was elected on a positive program; so were Cleveland, McKinley, Woodrow Wilson, Harding and Franklin D. Roosevelt. During the protracted Republican era between Grant and Cleveland, Repubicans were elected on the positive programs growing out of the Civil War. Curiously, the revolt against Herbert Hoover was due to controls, such as Prohibition, which Mr. Roosevelt denounced as candidate and made his technique of administration as President.

Currently, the Republican party is imperilling its prospect of victory in 1946 and 1948 as it did in 1936, 1940, and 1944 because the so-called practical politicians and practical business men who manage the party fear the liability of a positive program. These statements proposed at Mackings. tion as President. program. Those statements prepared at Mackinac, by a Congressional Committee and by literally dozens of privately organized groups, either hedge on hasic doctrine or are so intransigant as to ignore all that has occurred in this world since 1929, And somehow they seem always to be written without inspiration and therefore do not inspire.

The rise of Communism, the fall of Fascism, the destruction of a trillion dollars of wealth, the displacement of populations and therefore of mar-kets, the socialization of England, France, Czechoslovakia and China, the elimination of private banking in the foreign field and the limitations upon its activities domestically, the rise of labor to political power, the utilization of taxes to achieve an equalization of earnings and a hundred or more observable changes that affect the political, economic and social structures of all countries seem to have made no impression upon these program writers. They continue to live in the world of might-have-been. No political party can long be dominated by men out of office for nearly two decades. It is a matter of arithmetic. A man or woman of 30 today was 13 years old in 1929. High school, college, all the working years of such a person were spent in depression and war. There is no personal memory of the glories of Harding and Coolidge normalcy. There is no personal experience with the most satisfactory workings of an uncontrolled private enterprise system. Most persons of 30 or younger can have no recollection of any president other than Franklin D. Roosevelt, of no political party in power other than the New Deal. Their thinking has throughout their lives been influenced by the language of the New Deal. They know no other.

The Republican party has to face this mathematical fact, which grows more acutely significant as the years pass. Republican thinking and language needs to meet this fact. It needs to appreciate the intellectual currency of this generation, not of that which jumped out of windows in 1929.

move along the so-called "practical" line that if Mr. Truman makes enough mistakes, a Republican candidate will succeed him.

And one might ask, what will the candidate stand for in American life? What ideal of life will he offer the young people of this country? To that, there is still silence.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.) THE SCHOOL DINNER

Food has been, and will continue to be, an important matter in the health of the individual and of the nation. It is known that the allround diet meat, fish, eggs, vegetables (root and green), fruits and liquids-is necessary for health, as it embraces all the valuable minerals and vitamins

The school lunch has been criticized by many parents but this is because they do not realize what the home lunch means in the homes of some school children; it is just a snack because father and older brothers and sisters are not home at noon. As a matter of fact the school lunch as arranged or prepared by an expert distitian is more suitable for the needs of the growing child than that given in many homes.

What is more than a school lunch but really a dinner is reported by Dr. Grace Stevenson in the New Zealand Medical Journal. It is an experiment in extra or supplementary feeding of school children attending the Open Air School at Caversham, Dunedin, with a health dinner consisting of milk 2% part, wholemeal bread 3 ounces, butter 34 ounces, cheese 112 ounces, various salads, a rusk and an orange or apple. It will be seen that this is an allround meal in that it contains all the various food stuffs — proteins starches fats, minerals, vitamins and liquids. It will be seen also that no meat or fish (proteins) are given in this school dinner, but the proteins are supplied by the cheese tanimal proteins) the vegetables and fruits (vegetable proteins). What were the results obtained by this school

Dr. Stevenson observes a significant increase in the height and the weight of the health dinner children as compared to a control group eating an ordinary hot cooked meal at home.

With a school dinner such as the above the average youngster could engage in play for an hour or more after school without becoming overtired. He would thus have a real or natural appears for us evening meal and would better enjoy and digest

Huntington, W. Va, Aug. 23 (P)—The city treasury was $17 to the good today because of a motorist's habit of storing unpaid parking violation tickets in the glove compartment of his car.

Traffic Patrolman Lon Whitten overtime regularly at a certain downtown spot for about a month, but he could never be found after his car was tagged.

Yesterday Whitten stopped the man to chat with him and brought up the subject of the tickets The offender voluntarily showed the tickets he had in the compartment and both went to headquarters where the standard charge of $1 apiece was paid.

July Food Prices Are 80 Per Cent Higher Than in '39

Washington, Aug. 23 (A)-Mid-July food prices in 17 cities were 80 per cent higher than in August, 1939, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reported today. B.L.S. said the lowest rate of increase for the seven-year period in the 51 cities in which it gathers such statistics was Houston, Tex., with a 64 per cent hike. The highest was Memphis, Tenn., with 94.6 per cent. The increase for New York 763 and Washington 75.1. B.L.S. reported that retail prices generally, including foods, had increased 5.8 per cent between mid-June and mid-July this year. Food prices alone increased 13.8 per ent, and B.L.S. described this as "the largest monthly change ever recorded" for food alone.

Dutch Waistline Amsterdam, (A) - No official statistics show the increase in the average Dutch waistline, but there are other reliable signs. A year ago the "placeurs," the functionaries charged with the distribution of seats at the circus could pack 3,400 spectators on the unnumbered wooden benches. This year the placeurs can pack hardly 3,150 people on the same benches.
